ALG Worldwide Logistics Expands Co-Mail Capacity With the Addition of Two Co-Mail Lines.

BOLINGBROOK, Ill., March 1 /PRNewswire/ -- ALG Worldwide Logistics announced today the continued expansion of its Bolingbrook based co-mail operation. The first of the two new 36-pocket operating lines will be installed in June 2010 with the 2nd line being operational by the end of November 2010. This expansion will effectively increase pocket capacity to a total of 174 and weekly production capacity to over 8 million Periodical or Standard Flats. With 5 operating co-mail lines, ALG will significantly increase overall co-mail capacity allowing for greater postage savings for its clientele. This expansion will again increase flexibility in scheduling and accommodate diverse inkjet placement and font requirements as well as continue to expand polybag co-mailing options.

"ALG's primary focus is to provide cost saving solutions to its clientele by developing technical and operational methods by which companies can reduce their overall cost of goods sold. This expansion is one way in which ALG strives to bring ingenuity to the marketplace," said company President, Patrick J. Del Monico III.
