

Seeking First and Second Web Press Operators

Royle is offering a challenging career opportunity for web press operators in our press department. Qualified candidates will possess strong mechanical and printing skills in addition to demonstrated leadership abilities. Candidates must be able to set-up, operate and maintain multi-color heatset web presses (Sunday 2000 and M1000B experience preferred). The position also requires the ability to perform basic math functions as related to press operations. Prior experience troubleshooting and resolving press related problems are essential. If you take pride in producing a quality product in an efficient and timely manner; are detail orientated; and perform well in a fast paced, ever changing environment, please send your resume to, or apply in person at:
